

Join our mission to embrace the future of the food industry while honouring culinary tradition

The Culinary Federation gives professional chefs and cooks from across Canada an opportunity to connect locally, nationally and internationally with culinary peers – to network and learn from each other, give back to the local community and mentor up-and-coming industry professionals.

Founded in 1963, the Culinary Federation is a Canadian association of professional chefs and cooks with active membership of 1,000+ and 21 local branches across Canada. Member chefs come from diverse industry verticals including multi-unit chains, independent operators, international hotel groups, institutional and educational facilities - professors and students - food manufacturers and food distributors.
